Sara Schlieff, President of the Senior Class, looks forward into the mirror while looking back at the camera. Sara, who ran for Class President as a team with Jessie Mager as Vice-President, was the first of W-H students to run as a team. Sara and Jessie's goals for their senior year were to promote school spirit, communication, and class togetherness. Looking to the future, Sara aims to be a counselor in a shelter for runaways and Jessie looks forward to pursuing a medical career, perhaps as a surgeon.

Follow-up winners of the Mr. and Mrs. Whitman-Hanson contest include: Kasey Stankewicz, Kellie Ring, Bill Frazier, Jim Marnell, Jessie Mager, Gina Giaquinta, and Erin Hurley. The spirit of their Panther Pride is seen in the smiles of these winners who were selected based on their school spirit.

Above: Mr. and Mrs. Whitman-Hanson, Craig Kowalski and Lauren Phillips.
Right: Kellie Ring, Class of 1995 Secretary, looks forward to a successful four year college stint studying fashion as she thinks back with a smile about her active role in the Class of 1995.

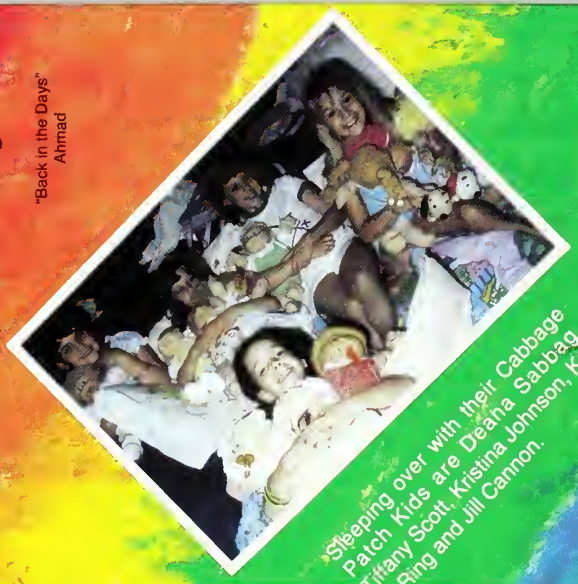
"Back in the days when I was young I'm not a kid anymore But somedays I sit And wish I was a kid again..."
"Back in the Days"
Ahmad



Sleeping over with their Cabbage Patch Kids are Deana Sabbag, Tiffany Scott, Kristina Johnson, Kellie Ring and Jill Cannon.

Whitney Blake, Tiffany Scott, and Kellie Ring will get lots of treats for Halloween.

April Healy, Katie Crosby, Janice Cheney, Colleen Fitzpatrick, Diahann Arena, Michelle Ahl and Julie Vacca look wildly happy at Colleen's twelfth birthday bash.

Hanson Hot Shot Sean Kenney drops the ball ... "OOPS!"

The studs of the eighth grade Whitman semi are Todd Harriman, Jim Fordham, Billy Frazier, John Burrows, and Chris Toomey.

The guys (Stephen Balsis, Tom Owen, Brian Brown, Brian Balasco, Craig Kowalski, Bob O'Connor, and John Burke) chow on pizza after the Whitman semi in eighth grade.

Stacia Newcomb gets a cramped foot! OUCH!

...e crumb on the table, not a plate in sight, where's the chicken and beef? Hold on to the night.

Steve Phillips and Carl Miles totally chillin! Word!

Mike Cullinan says to date Heather Fowler ... "See hon I think you should lay off the candy!"

Right: Mark O'Donnell asks Becky Eaton, "How many more pictures do we have to have taken?"

Above: It's the gang! Kelly Connolly, Jill Cannon, Lauren Belden, Alison Barron, Erin Salamone, Lynne LeClerc, Erin Hurley, Christine May, and Lisa Mucci, ask "Where did our dates go?"

Jessie Mager, Lynne LeClerc, Stacy Coburn and Tra... Willhauck ask, "Are we happy or what?!"

Karen Sullivan, Aimee Taylor, Kellie Ring, Tiffany Scott, and Gina Giaquinta. The Ros Bif gang showing their pearly whites!

S U M

"Summertime"
DJ Jazzy Jeff and the Fresh Prince

... think of summers of the past / Adjust the bass let the Alpine blast / Pop in my CD and let me run a rhyme / And put your car on cruise and lay back / Cause it's Summertime ..."

Karen Sullivan and Tricia Sylvester hold Aimee Taylor between them and say, "Oh, come on, the water isn't that cold!"

Is Aimee Taylor really as tall as Karen Sullivan and Tricia Sylvester? ... or is she showing off her tattoo like they are?

There's something fishy going on here in Boston as Kelly Connolly, Lisa Mucci, Stacy Coburn, Jessie Mager, Christine May, Erin Hurley and Jill Hennelly make smiley faces ... oops we mean fishy faces.

Josh French, Bryan Shott and Scott Foley strut their manly stuff!

M E R

RELAXATION

Well it is quite obvious that these girls, Karen Hurley, Melisa Peterson, Sarrah Quilty, Jenn Ingraham, Mary Morse and Becky Eaton can't keep Danny Laine entertained!

Mark Gocal and Christine Connolly show their love for summer ... and each other.

Aimee Taylor and K[illegible]e Ring feel safe and sound in Boston as the great and mighty lion protector leads them to the Hard Rock Cafe

Are Melissa Medeiros, Paula Gillis, Jamie Deresier, Kristin Cieslik, Angela Dias and Melissa Contois taking a summer cruise ... or are they taking an afternoon ...?

J O B S .

"Tumble out of bed / Stumble to the kitchen / Pour myself [illegible] of [illegible]mbition / Yawning, stretching, come alive ... / Working nine to five ..."
"Nine to Five" Dolly Parton

Janice Cheney and Melissa Contois say "It's time to make the donuts."

Aimee Taylor waits cheerfully and patiently for the next car to drive up at Wendy's.

Diahann Arena says: "Hey Kathy, why do all the customers go to you?"

SPEND/SAVE

"I don't know," says Kathy Shaughnessy working at Millie's, "but get me out of here."

Jessica Thompson, Kelly Connolly, and Sara Schlieff wishing they were at the beach, smile pretty for the camera during their summer job at Thom'Mcan.

Carrie Rock and Steph Tyler spend their B work hour in the Deca Store.

Becky Eaton takes a minute to say "CHEESE" ... or Pepperoni?!

Dave O'Brien and Sean Kenney discuss the mechanic techniques used at their respective gas stations.

Below: Lauren Phillips and Shannon Burke are working hard as usual at Millie's Lunch.

SENIOR

"Freeze frame ... freeze frame ..." J. Geils Band

Alicia asks Dawn, "Where did you get those great shoes?!"

Hey Cousin It, where is Carrie Rock?

Lisa, Jessie and Christine get a little too dressed up for the first day of school. Oh no, wait! They're going to the Prom!

Whitney Blake ... on her way to English to take the Frankenstein test.

Renee repeats to the driver, "Be back at two."

Kelly Cote shows off the newest fashion for the Whitman-Hanson 1994-1995 school year.

Jim Marnell and Craig Kowalski are "so happy together!" in the ice caves of Mt. Titlis in Switzerland.

"Are you talking to me?" exclaims Katie Crosby as she eats her Garden Salad.

Hans Carlson says the usual, "Give me a kiss, Baby!"

Kristin breaks into the school files and gives Mrs. Bergquist a generous million dollar raise.

Jill Hennelly proposes a toast to the camera.

Kristy, Erin, and Whitney all celebrate after mastering the Dewey Decimal System.

Stephanie Tyler and Lisa Davis contemplate stuffing Geoff Yalenezian into a big, brown paper bag.

SENIOR PORTRAITS ... SEN

Senior Class Officers: Sara Schleiff, President, Jessie Mager, Vice-President, Jeff Harrington, Treasurer; Kellie Ring, Secretary.

Senior Class Advisors Mrs. Linda Gay and Mr. James Daley

On October 13, kindergarten classes from the Maquan and Conley Schools in Hanson and Whitman came to Whitman-Hanson to participate in the first annual Tree Planting Ceremony. The tree symbolizes them as they will, along with the tree, grow to maturity. These young students look forward to their high school days when, in 12 years, they too will be submitting their senior portraits.

In appreciation ...

When Mrs. Buckley retires at the end of the 1994-95 school year, Whitman-Hanson will suffer a great loss. Mrs. Buckley has been the Principal of Whitman-Hanson Regional High School for 13 years, and before that, she was a faculty member, teaching home economics, and the Occupational Education Department Head. It is clear that Mrs. Buckley has given a great part of her life to the enhancement of the Whitman-Hanson School District. Even those who are just beginning to get to know Mrs. Buckley notice her excellence as an administrator. Mrs. Cissy Spear, a new member of the W-H Faculty, already refers to Mrs. Buckley as "a wonderful, supportive, and enthusiastic leader."

Mrs. Buckley will miss Whitman-Hanson after her retirement this June. Of W-H she says, "...it is the biggest part of my life. There will be this void. I will always have wonderful memories." The fondest of her memories includes "working with wonderful people...the kids, parents and teachers." She is proud of the changes that W-H has undergone during her principalship, such as the Hall of Fame and the fact that the towns of Whitman and Hanson recognize the high school as part of their communities. Mrs. Buckley's foremost goal for her final year at W-H is to "end my career with the ability to maintain my energy and enthusiasm." She is optimistic about the future of Whitman-Hanson. "I know Mr. Gay will be an excellent principal. I know he'll use his intelligence and energy to continue to make W-H grow." Mrs. Buckley's advice for Mr. Gay is "not to burn himself out and lose his sense of humor." Mrs. Buckley calls "the teachers and the students" her biggest influences throughout her career.

On April 1, 1982, at the beginning of her principalship, an article entitled "New W-H Principal Demands Excellence" was in the Hanson Reporter. Ironically, this profile was written by Nancy Emerson, a Hanson Reporter staff writer at the time and currently a member of W-H's Language Arts Department. The profile dealt with Mrs. Buckley's excitement toward her new position, her goals for W-H's future, and also special confrontations she expected to face along the way. "I'm looking forward to every bit of it," said Mrs. Buckley. "Whitman-Hanson has the potential to be a really outstanding school. We have some super people and some super programs." One of Mrs. Buckley's major goals was to unite the school. "Until people say, 'It's my school, our school,' we can't really get it to achieve all it can achieve. The more people you get involved with the school, the more positive results you'll get."

During her interview with Mrs. Emerson in 1982, little did Geralde Buckley know just how successful her years as principal would be. Assistant Principal Robert Gay put it well this year: "Gerry Buckley provided outstanding leadership to W-H which has made it one of the top schools in Massachusetts." The closing line in the article that appeared in the Hanson Reporter read, "She's come a long way, but she's got a long way to go." Throughout her years of dedication and excellence in the W-H school district, Mrs. Buckley has travelled that "long way" and has been a true asset to Whitman-Hanson Regional High School.

Known by his colleagues for his excellence in counseling, his talent for golfing, and his fashion sense, Mr. Louis Korey dedicated a great portion of his life to the students of Whitman-Hanson and has been greatly missed since his retirement at the end of the 1993-94 school year.

Mrs. Kathy Getchell commented, "Mr. Korey was a wonderful counselor who will be greatly missed by students and staff alike. He always went that extra mile for all of his students and they all felt very secure with him. Mr. Korey was without a doubt a student advocate".

Mrs. Gale Jones, a recent addition to the W-H Guidance Department, calls Mr. Korey a "sharp dresser, always looking young and trendy". Mrs. Nancy Emerson goes so far as to describe Mr. Korey as "the most elegant dresser of all the men on this staff".

Regarding Mr. Korey's golf game, Mrs. Jones calls him a "golf pro ... at least he has aspirations to be one" and Mrs. Heather Kaval describes his golf goals in more detail: "to develop a great swing". She does, however, compliment him by calling his current swing "The most powerful windshield wiper on the South Shore."

Even with so much of his time devoted to keeping up his swing ... and his closet! Mr. Korey developed a reputation within W-H for his excellent counseling. Mr. Robert Gay describes him as "a tremendous counselor who deeply cared about his counselees". Mrs. Shirley Howard, Head of Guidance, shares these sentiments: "students seek him out and rely upon him" and think of Lou Korey as a true friend. "He was there when I and so many others needed advice."

Mrs. Howard speaks for everyone within the W-H community when she says, "his retirement is a great loss for W-H; I will miss him tremendously."

Mr. Ted Newcomb

Mr. Ted Newcomb has "left his imprint on the athletic life at Whitman-Hanson for many years to come," says Mr. Robert Gay, W-H's Assistant Principal. Mr. Newcomb, famous for his sense of humor, great personality, and interesting fashion sense has been a wonderful coach, teacher, and friend to both faculty and students through his years at W-H. Mrs. Heather Kaval refers to Mr. Newcomb as "a man of the people, of many priorities, and a man who really cared about the kids."

Mr. Ted Newcomb will always be remembered as a caring coach and fun-loving gym teacher. His students will never forget playing such games as "Squirrel in the Tree" and "Tag". Regarding his fashion sense as both a coach and a physical education teacher, Mrs. Nancy Emerson calls Mr. Newcomb "the fashion plate of the Phys. Ed. Department. We miss those jogging suits." Noted as one of the most spirited members of the faculty, he has always been there for the school. Mr. Newcomb's friend and colleague Mrs. Sandra Allan says that he "has always had a unique sense of humor which kept us guessing the direction it would take next. Needless to say, there were few dull moments."

Mr. Shoicket, Head of the Physical Education Department, knows that "the Phys. Ed. Department will miss his energy, sense of humor, spirit, and commitment." Mrs. Ellen Schmidt, along with everyone that ever knew and worked with Mr. Ted Newcomb would like to wish him a "Happy Retirement!"

"He did not major in minor things," is how Mr. James Bonaparte describes the priorities of George Hines, who retired from W-H last June after 34 years as a WHRHS Teacher. "He had his priorities straight and always put things in their proper perspective." Mr. Mark Stephansky, who took over Mr. Hines' position of Science Department Head, embellishes upon Mr. Bonaparte's description. "George was willing to drop anything he was doing to assist anyone who needed help. He always placed himself second." As Bonaparte and Stephansky sit and discuss "appropriate" quotes for the yearbook, it is obvious to a bystander how much George Hines is missed by his colleagues.

Nobody seems to be able to describe Mr. Hines without the mentioning of "private jokes". This shows just how well-liked Mr. Hines is. Some of his colleagues can't resist doing a quick impersonation of Mr. Hines, using such quotes as "Books and notes away, it's quizzerino time today", "Rude dude ...", and "Thanks for coming to work today". Mrs. Nancy Emerson says that Mr. Hines was "a good homeroom teacher when I was a freshman". Mr. James Daley was a frequent target of Mr. Hines' good natured humor with such statements as "Hey Daley ... make like a tree and leave!".

And then there are those comments made by faculty members that are enough to make one shake one's head in wonderment. Mrs. Ellen Schmidt says, when asked to make a comment regarding Mr. Hines, "Elvis lives." Mr. Bonaparte insists that "Bucky" is a common nickname for George among W-H faculty members. Perhaps even more strange, one of Mr. Stephansky's "special" memories is ... "Where's my three-hole punch?". Mrs. Heather Kaval refers to Mr. Hines as "Gentleman George" and relates his politeness and gentleness while on the golf course - even when playing with "Bums!"

Obviously, the memories of Mr. George Hines are diverse, yet all agree with Mr. Robert Gay's memory of "... a beloved educator for many years at W-H".

Mr. Donald Sullivan

"Whenever I consulted him about a problem, he had a knack for knowing how to make it go away," says Mrs. Shirley Howard, Head of the Whitman-Hanson Guidance Department of Mr. Donald Sullivan, former Head of Guidance. It is a feeling felt not only by Mrs. Howard but by anyone who ever worked with Mr. Sullivan. Known to his friends and colleagues as "Sully" (as told to us by Mrs. Heather Kaval), Mr. Sullivan was an outstanding guidance counselor and a friend to all. His students will never forget his being there for them and his caring about their futures.

Guidance Secretary Kathy Getchell said of Mr. Sullivan: "Mr. Sullivan was kind to all and made everyone feel welcome. He had a wonderful sense of humor and wit as well as a very keen sense of fairness. Students and staff felt very comfortable with Mr. Sullivan - he had a very relaxed manner".

Mr. Sullivan was a person who always seemed to have the right answers to every question that was asked of him. Assistant Principal Mr. Robert Gay says that "Don Sullivan was W-H's foremost authority on the school's history ... a great natural resource." As a fellow faculty member and dear friend of Mr. Sullivan, Mrs. Howard articulated that "he knew a great deal about many topics and was a terrific source of information." She "will always remember Don as relaxed and soft-spoken - a living lesson in stress management". Thankfully for her, he is only as far away as her telephone.

For all of his many friends at Whitman-Hanson, there is a void that will be hard to fill." We will all miss him and wish him a wonderful retirement.

Students at Whitman-Hanson all have different views of the world. Some see the world forward and some see the world backward. But, if Whitman-Hanson is spelled "Whitman-Hanson" or if it is spelled "nosnaH-namtihW", the viewer can still see the Panther no matter what way he's turned.

Senior Looking Ahead...

Laura Kryzanek plans to attend Boston College and to enter the field of Psychology. She is venturing into a field, having been encouraged and inspired by her parents. Laura is 13 in a class of 257, has maintained all A's and B's, and is particularly well known around W-H for her outstanding Majorette skills. "Ten years from now," Laura says, "I hope to have been to college and to be avidly working in a profession helping people help themselves." And of course, as a traditionalist, Laura envisions marriage, three children, pets, and a white picket fence.

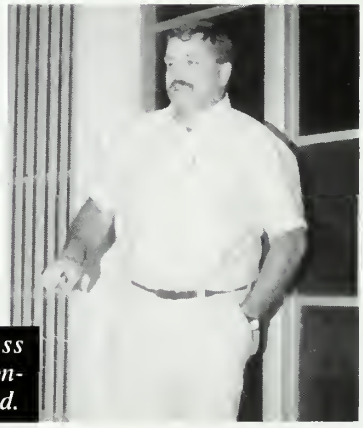
[frshmn. / snr. banquet]

On Thursday, September 29, the Freshman-Senior Banquet was held in the Whitman-Hanson cafeteria from 6:30-9:30 pm. The Senior Class Officers, along with the Student Council Executive Board, worked to make this event a big success. Everyone enjoyed the night filled with games like musical chairs, the never ending string game, and of course Mr. Daley's infamous game of Simon Says. This is the event at which the freshmen and the seniors get to know each other and sometimes they even get to become good friends. Senior Kelley Ketchen summarized the evening by saying, "Everyone got along...there were no cliques...and the evening was more fun than it had been in my freshman year."

Raise your hands if you're sure!



Mr. Daley, Senior Class Adviser, tries to take control over the rowdy crowd.

Some people came to the party October 22 but left before it began; other people never made it to the party, thinking that Hingham was as easy to get to as the high school cafeteria. Luck was with the group though - no one fell in! Talent was everywhere as was evident by the festive table dancers.

"Even though the boat was small, it made us all come together and have a good time," was Jessie Mager and Sara Schlieff's comment about the annual Semi-Formal. During the three hour cruise of Hingham Harbor and Boston Harbor, the 250 students danced, partied, snacked, and had an overall good time.

"Kristin Cieslik, you're the one I'm dreaming of," says Hans Carlson with a loving tone of voice.

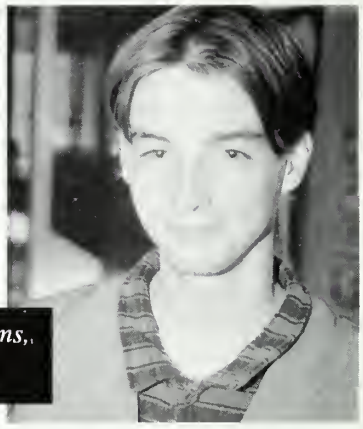
[halloween dress-up day]

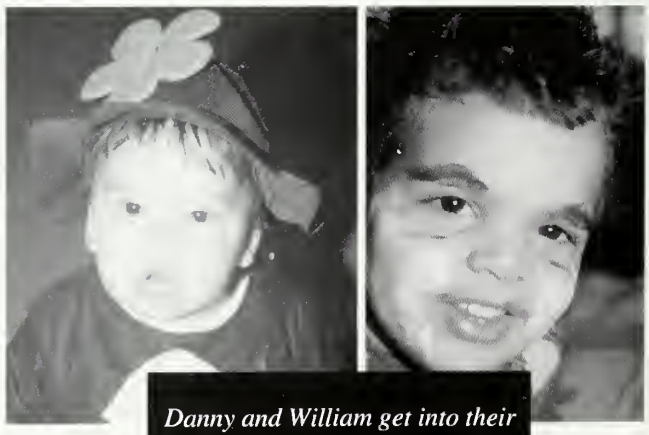
Halloween transforms the hallowed halls of Whitman-Hanson into the haunted halls of Whitman-Hanson. Participation this Halloween was great, as students and faculty members alike put their worst face forward. This year's costumes showed an abundance of originality with a cow and swash buckler roaming the halls, while a Fusco Bird watched over the library. There were also a few instances of group mentality as a pack of Dalmatians frolicked and quite a few crows appeared to fulfill their revenge. Kristy Blood, as she cowered on her desk, said, "This is the scariest day of my life."

Suddenly Matt Young experiences a sharp pain in his left eye as Julia Adams laughs ghoulishly.

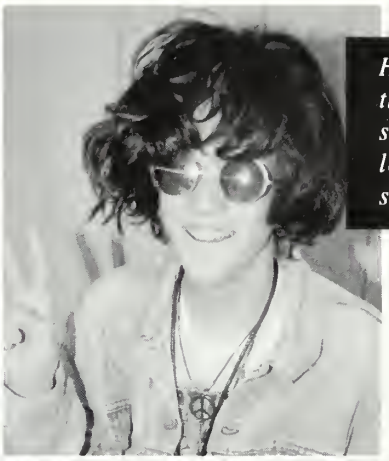


Frank Hennessy exclaims, "I care!"

"I'm dead so I say I move," says Joe Brack the Crow.

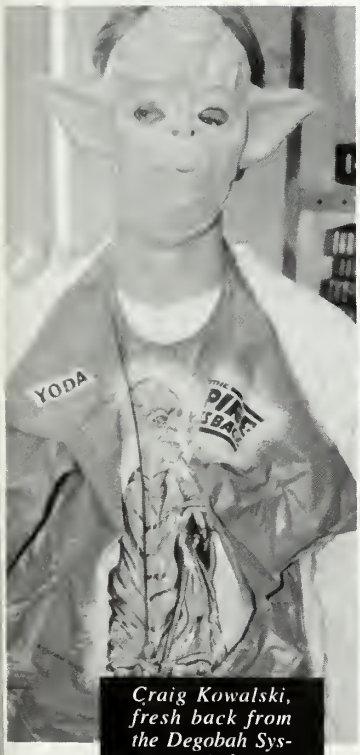


Danny and William get into their Halloween spirit by saying, "Goo goo daa daa eak!"



Harvey, Christine, and Dennis show off their love for Woodstock II, 1994.

"Double, double, toil and trouble; Fire burn and cauldron bubble," repeat Molly, Tina and Jackie.



Craig Kowalski, fresh back from the Degobah System, reminds us all to use the force.

[veteran's day parade]

Cold and windy describes this November day, but that didn't stop these people from showing their spirit! Every year the tri-town parade, this year held in Abington, attracts many people. Whitman-Hanson is one school that is always proud to get out there and show its support for the veterans. A two mile hike and cold weather didn't hold any of our Panthers back from having a good time. The cheerleaders kept cheering, the band kept playing, and the majorettes kept twirling in the freezing cold weather to show off their Panther Pride. Karen Sullivan said it best when she said, "Even though it was cold our Panther spirit kept us all warm!"

Captains Vicky Barr and Laura Kryzanek lead the majorettes.

Senior Chris Blais keeps the beat going in the Veteran's Day Parade.

[rally decorating/ powder puff game]

It was a time for cross dressing and a time for dressing...in black and red. On Monday, November 22, the seniors and juniors arrived;the girls wearing the football shirts and the guys wearing the football skirts. Later that day, all gathered in the gym to transform their school spirit into balloons, streamers, signs, and anything else they could think of. After they completed their festooning it was out to the field to watch the Junior and Senior girls battle it out on the football field. Out supporting them were their cheerleaders...the guys. In the end, the class of 1995 had their second straight victory, once as juniors, then as seniors. But as usual all the classes had a great time and shared stupendous school spirit.

Ryan Morgan, Junior cheerleader...well kind of, cheers on the Junior girls from high above the crowd.

Kim Lawlor, Tracy Willhauck, and Carrie Rock, members of the 1995 team, look so clean and calm before they go out to the field and get muddy and aggressive.

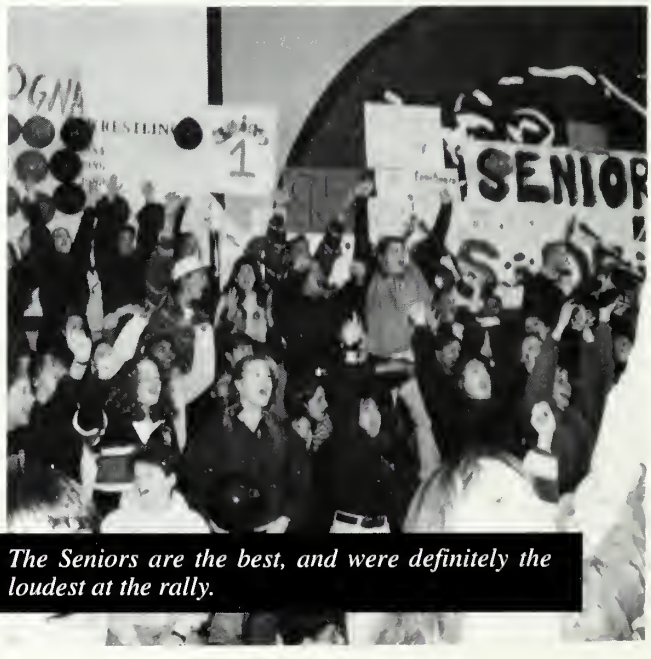
[thanksgiving rally]

The annual Thanksgiving Rally was held on Tuesday, November 23, an exciting finish to a successful spirit week. There were the usual performances by the very entertaining and energetic cheerleaders and majorettes. The band played on and on, encouraging all the students to get up and cheer for the Panthers. The senior skit was different from past years. Everyone enjoyed laughing at the antics of the senior football players, as played by the senior girls. Some of the biggest crowd pleasers were the car troubles Jim Sweeney and Mike MacDonald experienced, the love affair between Ezra Baldwin and Steve Wozniak, and Bill Frazier's impressive good looks. All who attended had fun and this year's rally proved to be the best one ever.

Mr. Daley congratulates Mrs. Buckley on her many years of support and dedication. We'll miss you, Mrs. Buckley.

J.J. Frisoli (Co-Captain) thanks everyone, especially his girlfriend, Jill Hennelly.

Vicki Barr twirls her heart out!



The Seniors are the best, and were definitely the loudest at the rally.

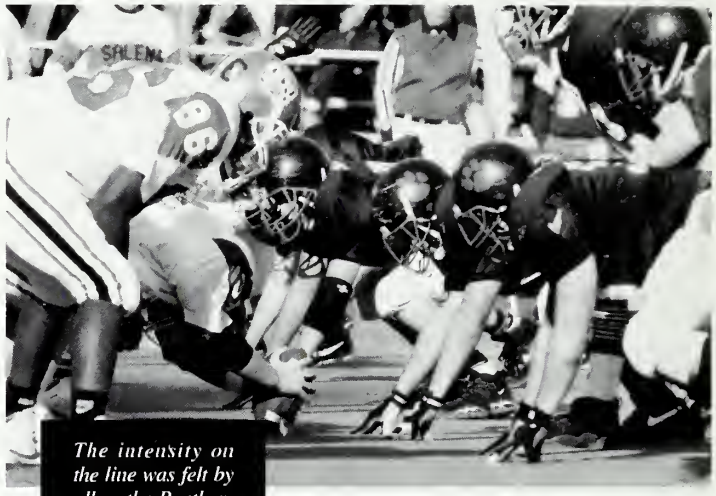
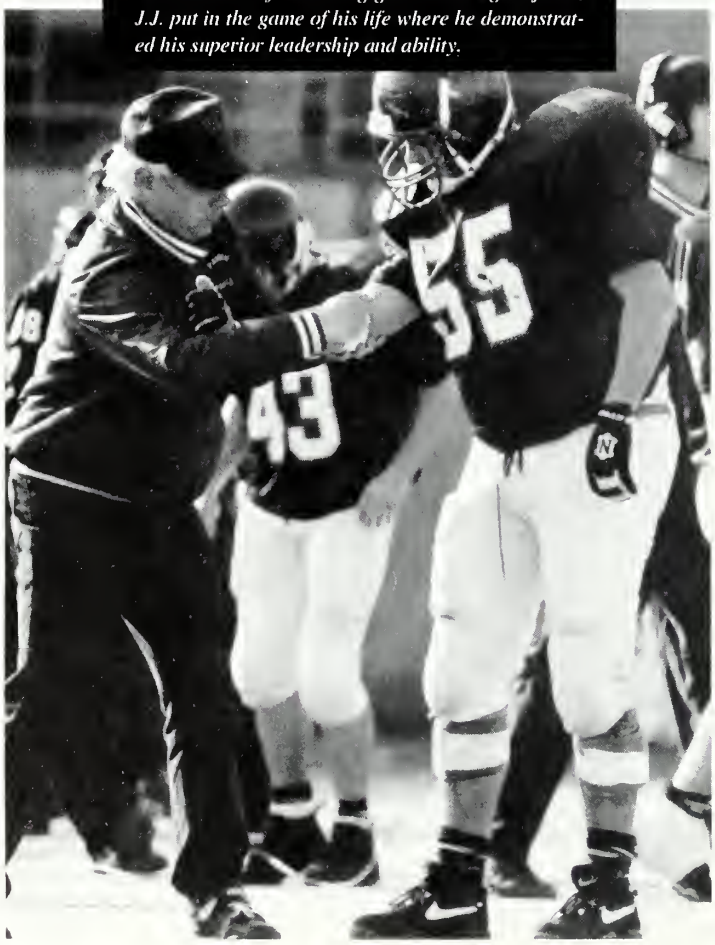
[superbowl]

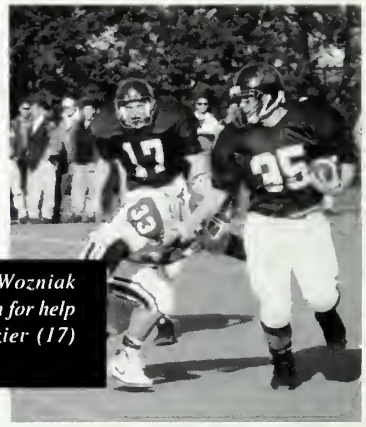
This year's Superbowl, held at Boston University's Nickerson Field on December 3 at 10:30, marked not only the end of a great four years for all the seniors, but also the beginning of great years to come for the rest of the football team. The overwhelming score of 13-0 against the Salem Witches proved the excellence of the Panthers. The game was truly a reward of hard work, dedication, and the pride of all the football players. Scoring touchdowns for the Panthers were Brian Burr, senior, and Chris McEwan, junior, with Marty Whitmore kicking the extra point. Seniors Paul Clasby, Bill Frazier, Steve Wozniak, J.J. Frisoli, and Junior Chris Frisoli all played a great game to bring the Panthers their victory.



The intensity on the line was felt by all as the Panthers and the Witches went head-to-head.



Co-Captain J.J. Frisoli gets his elbow taped by Chief Peter Huska before the big game. Although injured, J.J. put in the game of his life where he demonstrated his superior leadership and ability.



Co-Captain Steve Wozniak (35) looks to his team for help as Senior Bill Frazier (17) moves in to assist.

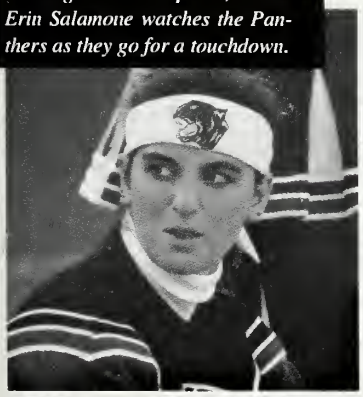
Senior John Burrows and his opponent crash in the air, battling for the ball, as some of the many fans present that day look on with anticipation.

The Superbowl is not only about the players. Countless fans showed up to give their support and spirit to the Panthers. These girls really demonstrate school pride and spirit as well as dedication to their team. From left to right are: Jessica Mager, Whitney Blake, Sara Schlieff, Erin Hurley, Aimee Taylor, Kelly Connolly, Stacia Newcomb and Shayna Ross. The Colorguard not only cheered on the Panthers but gave a great half time show as well. These talented performers dance the day away to the fun music of the W-H Panthers Band.

With lightening speed and quick reflexes, Runningback Chris Frisoli looks to avoid a tackle by changing direction and sprinting toward the end zone.

Center: The legend lives on...Hummmmm baby... Senior Quarterback Bill Frazier truly is a legend, being Varsity Quarterback for three years and all the while showing not only great talent but also great school spirit and pride. Immediate Left: Vicky Barr, Co-Captain of the W-H majorettes, dazzles the crowd with her fantastic display of twirling and dancing at the half time show. The majorettes, led also by Co-Captain Laura Kryzanek, are well-known for their talent and spirit which they all demonstrate both on and off the field.

Looking on with suspense, Senior Erin Salamone watches the Panthers as they go for a touchdown.



Bashing and smashing his way through, senior Paul Clasby makes sure those Witches don't get by.

Senior Matt Kenealy plays the trumpet at the half time show. No football game would be complete without the W-H Panther band playing such favorites as "Wipeout", "Surfin' U.S.A.", and "Tequila" to warm up the crowd and build spirit.

Above right and directly above: Filled with pride and always wearing smiles, the W-H cheerleaders are always there by the football players to truly demonstrate the meaning of spirit.

While Bill Frazier holds the ball, Senior Marty Whitmore concentrates as he attempts to kick a field goal.

Looking for a teammate for help while trying for a touchdown, Senior Brian Burr rushes for the line. He played a great game scoring 1 touchdown and making great plays.

The Panther underneath the scoreboard at the Dennis M. O'Brien field is a source of pride for the athletes of Whitman-Hanson. Before each game, the W-H Football Team touches him on the head for good luck. Hopefully the athletes will look back on their high school sports days with nostalgia.

Whitman-Hanson students line up at the State Qualifier games in Newton. On your mark ... get set ... go!

The Special Olympics are a very important part of the W-H Special Needs Department. The 4 major events that the students compete in are Bowling, Track and Field, Basketball, and Cycling. Sean McKenna also is involved in the Golf Tournament and Jackie Deegan competes in the Swimming Event. There were a total of 8 medals won last year by Whitman-Hanson Athletes : 4 gold, 2 silver, and 2 bronze.

At the end of a hard day, the Special Olympians pose for one last picture.

Billy, Jackie, Kellie, Yon, and Bob smile with excitement as they enter their first bowling competition which took place at Maple Alleys in Brockton.

Hockey Cheerleading has great year; Competition goes to Myrtle Beach.

Seniors Jill Cannon, Lauren Phillips, Stacy Coburn, Kim Lawlor, and Christine May pose for their last Competition Cheerleading picture together.

Meredith Grabowski and Kim Lawlor perfect their skills during practice.

The Canadian-American International Competition in Myrtle Beach will benefit from the presence of the W-H Competition Cheerleading Squad this March. W-H hosted a cheerleading camp during the summer of 1994, at which time the girls learned that they had qualified to compete in Myrtle Beach. W-H wishes the 16 competing girls the best of luck - we're "cheering" for you!

Katy Pearson, Lauren Belden, and Hilary Taylor show great enthusiasm in their formation change.

Lauren Belden perfects her lift for the upcoming competition in Myrtle Beach.

The Whitman-Hanson Competition Squad once again is having a wonderful season. The girls work very hard every day under the direction of Mrs. Getchell, Mrs. MacKenzie, and Captains Stacy Coburn and Kim Lawlor.

Seniors Melissa Gloria, Kellie Ring, and Jen Moriarty have shown their support for the last few years and will miss hockey cheerleading.

This year the Whitman-Hanson Varsity Hockey Cheerleading Squad is under new leadership. The squad is led by Jeannine Pittsley, a former Whitman-Hanson cheerleader. The squad has improved tremendously this year under the direction of Captain Michelle Ayer.

Deana Sabbag and Kellie Ring led the girls in a cheer at a crucial hockey moment.

"Dedication is the only way to succeed!"

Aine Timoney
National Honor Society President

Michele Mendes
Key Club President

Getting involved...

Michele Mendes is a senior at W-H but, most importantly, she is an active student. Michele strongly stresses the need for students to get involved in-school and in the local community. She is currently serving as President of the Key Club, a branch off of the local Whitman and Hanson Kiwanis Clubs that are dedicated to helping children. One of the biggest projects that the Key Club gets involved with is the Special Olympics. The Special Olympians of the communities of Whitman and Hanson owe Michele and her fellow members a debt of gratitude.

Aine Timoney is President of the Whitman-Hanson Chapter of the National Honor Society. The moment that she remembers most fondly was her induction in December of her Sophomore year. "It's nice to know that so many students care about their grades and their community."

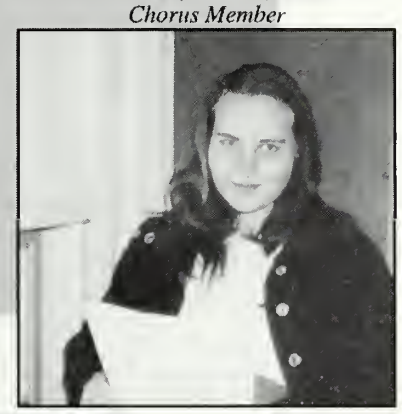
Mr. Thomas Oliviere warms up the crowd before Jenn Ridolfi and the Chorus wow the audience.

Jennifer Ridolfi
Chorus Member



The W-H Chorus is a group of 45 students. "They work extremely hard and it shows," says Jen Ridolfi, Junior. Co-president and Secretary of the chorus, she is section leader of the altos. She is a very talented singer and is proficient on piano, flute, french horn, and trombone. She's been singing since 4th grade. Outside of school she is a Dean Koontz reader, is an avid animal lover and a good listener for her friends . Jenn admires and would like to extend her thanks to Mr. Oliviere, Mr. "Raccatou" and Mr. Bonaparte for all their hard work and dedication. Looking to the future she has high hopes for the Annual Spring Concert. "We've been working very hard on a variety of music and all of the chorus members are hoping for a large turn out of people at the performance". Jenn will prove to be, as she did this year, a great asset next year.

Brian Ciccolo
Math Team High-Scorer

Learning more...

"I love math. Math is the answer to everything," is not an opinion held by most Whitman-Hanson juniors, or juniors anywhere, for that matter. Nor do many people wish to spend their summers "doing math all day by a pool". Yet, for Whitman-Hanson Junior Brian Ciccolo mathematics is a hobby, a talent, and an ambition. Brian, a three-year starter for the Math Team, is the highest scoring junior in the Math League to which W-H belongs. This, an honor attained through hours of preparation and countless practice problems, is not considered by Brian to have been all work and no play to attain. "It was easy...it was fun," is how Brian describes the Math Meets during his freshman year, and his attitude toward math has not changed. With math, he says, "You can go five different ways...and still get the right answer. It's one of the few subjects that gives you direct answers." Looking ahead to the future, Brian hopes to earn a doctorate in Mathematics at MIT. "I'd like to do something that involves math...and make a lot of money." With Brian's enthusiasm and talent, the reaching of this goal is just the beginning of a long line of successes in the field of mathematics.

Rebecca Eaton, a Foreign Language Club member, gives the dancers of the Alejandra Dondines much appreciation for a job well done as well as a thank you for coming on behalf of the Club.

Shannon Burke
P.R.O.T.E.C.T. Member

Shannon Burke, a Senior and 4 year member, was chosen by her P.R.O.T.E.C.T. advisor Mr. Sweeney as an exemplary member. During her 4 years she has helped to educate younger children and her peers about the dangers of drugs and alcohol. At meetings she leads group discussions and plans skits to perform in the lower schools. Shannon has learned through experience that "the younger kids imitate everything the high school students do. If we can serve as role models, then by the time the kids reach high school they might have a better outlook on life and less problems than we have right now." Like Shannon, Karen Hurley is also very interested in teaching others about the dangers of Drugs and Alcohol. As Vice-president she hopes to warn that "drinking isn't just bad because of drunk driving, but it's also because people can become alcoholics. We're trying to spread the word around school to stop drinking and driving by havings days such as the accident reenactment every other year and having Grim Reeper day once a year." Obviously Karen and Shannon care very deeply about the students of W-H and the communities of Whitman and Hanson.

Lee Mansfield and Chris Shine have been members of SEAC for all of their 4 years at W-H. They are also both in the Recycling Club. Chris is in the History Club, Economics Club, National Honor Society, and of course is editor of the yearbook. Lee has been very active in the school's drama program for his 4 years, as well as being quite a talented artist. Chris and Lee feel that the environment is very important. They agree that the problem is humanity, that mankind is selfishly squandering the planet's resources and that in the process of squandering we are also destroying other species' habitats. During regular SEAC meetings the two find ample time to discuss philosophical issues as well as environmental ones. They hope that by doing their part the future of the earth will be a little brighter.

Charles Tuttle
WHRC Manager

Charlie Tuttle, Senior, has been in the Whitman-Hanson Radio Club for three years. This year he is the station manager and is extremely dedicated both in school and when school is out of session. As station manager he oversees all work and operation. In the studio during homeroom and mods B, C and G Charlie has two of his own shows, directs how other peoples' shows are run, edits controversial material, and teaches the other crew members how to run the equipment. This year WHRC has been lucky enough to have been given a new studio outfitted with both TV and Radio Production equipment. For 4-5 weeks during the summer Charlie was at W-H everyday helping to tear down the old studio with his "bare hands", as well as moving equipment. The most disastrous moment Charlie can remember from his three years is when an amplifier fell out of the back of a truck. (Great way to get a new amplifier!) He says that Matt Degrechie and Mr. Belden have been the two people who have inspired him the most. Next year he will attend Massasoit Community College, majoring in Communication, and hopes to transfer to Northeast Broadcasting School and someday become a station manager.

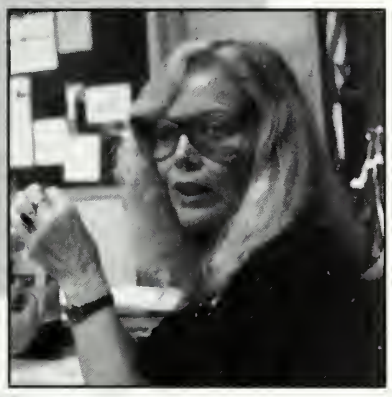
Chris Shine sits behind "the two women at his beck and call". Hayley Cunningham and Amy Miles smile and think to themselves "Oh, I think that should be 'The girls sit in front of the guy at their beck and call'"

Laurie Devine and Jaime Burbine huddle together before attacking another layout.

Thank you...

Christina Harrington gives a set of proofs a final look before they leave.

Mrs. Marsha Bergquist
Yearbook Advisor



About 400 copies will arrive sometime in May and almost immediately students will begin having them signed. Another yearbook closes and the students of Whitman-Hanson leave with 192 pages neatly bound into a black and red cover. Who wonders how those 192 pages came to be. Lots of time and lots of people went into these pages. First off I'd like to thank our advisor, Mrs. Bergquist. I have worked with her for all of my years at W-H. Each year I've gained more respect for her and what she does. She finds time to juggle her teaching as well as hours and hours spent on the yearbook. Amy Miles, my Assistant Editor, has been with me through the frantic and not so frantic times in the office. She has always been able to work with the other people on the staff and make them strive for excellence. Christina Harrington is another person who has been instrumental in this book's production. As an Associate Editor she has managed to participate in track, as well as having been one of the Yearbook Staff's best writers. On a broader scale I would like to thank the entire faculty; your support has been invaluable. From allowing photographers to come into your classes to planning your day around an Activity Period, you've made our job a little easier. Finally, thank you to the parents of Seniors and to local business advertisers for your generous support. It is crucial financial support that we need in order to get the book going early in September. From early in September to our last deadline, it has been a pleasure working with such wonderful people and putting this book together; I hope everyone enjoys it. Thank you again.

Chris Shine, Editor

We look back, while looking forward, at the center of Whitman. We thank the generous Whitman and Hanson businesses for their support of the 1995 Retrospect.

SPONSORS ... SPONSO

(Above) A freshman! Well, we had to give them credit for typing all of the parent messages in the 1995 Retrospect. Jessica Kinch finishes up page 158. Thanks guys!

1995 CLASS HISTORY

First day of school
Looking forward with fear
It had finally happened;
It was our Freshman year.

On September the first
We walked down the hall.
Our class was divided
By lockers big and small.

Our Freshman year
Had finally begun.
We were forced to sit
And watch Channel One.

We met Mr. Daley
And then Mrs. Gay.
On our ballots we voted:
Bill, Stacy, Jeff and J.J.

Along came the rally;
The Seniors yelled at us.
In our pink clothing
We ran for the bus.

The week before Christmas
We were trying to push on,
But the sewers exploded
And then we were gone.

Talent was demonstrated
When K Squared hit it big.
She danced through the aisles
Doing her Irish jig.

At the end of the year
Our class trip was in sight,
But we spoiled our plans
And had a food fight.

Our Freshman year over,
A thing of the past,
New friends and school
Our memories still last.

Sophomore year was here
And things got a little crazy.
Grades were not as important,
So we got a little lazy.

Even though in the rally
We got to say "Are"
Graduation day still
Seemed so very far.

The Papa Gino's man came
When we gave him a call,
But it was a shame
That the pieces got small.

The Navy band came
And the place went nuts
We ran up on stage
And started shaking our butts.

When we got our ID cards
We thought they were cool
Until we found out
We had to carry them around school.

The lock-in turned out
To be a big bore
Nobody could sleep
And there was coke on the floor.

Most of us thought
Sophomore year was a drag,
But we'll never forget
Our trip to Six Flags.

Junior year came
And we were halfway done.
Now we could drive
We thought we'd always have fun.

We couldn't have imagined
How good the year would be
When we voted for Amy,
Tiff, Jeff and Kell-ie.

The Powder Puff game
Was a big success;
The Seniors were defeated
And we were the best.

Along came the Semi
On a cold, rainy day.
The place was jumping
Thanks to Daley and Gay.

It was a Thursday in May.
The timing was right
For our Junior Prom
"Hold On To the Night."

1994 was fun;
It went by so fast.
No one could believe
Next year would be our last.

Freshmen are so tiny;
They enter here with fear.
By looking around we can tell
This is our Senior year.

Sarah will be our new Pres;
Jessie the V.P.
Kellie will take the notes
And Jeff will count the non-ey.

We're writing in September,
So we can't tell what will come.
Our future predictions
May be false, but they'll be fun.

Football wins again.
Cross Country's back on top.
Girls' soccer is the best;
The Boys' team is really hot.

Men on ice will repeat.
Coach Daley has a winning team.
Wrestling's undefeated
And Sweeney still has dreams.

The Freshman-Senior banquet
Will be the very best.
We'll have a great time cruising
And the first half will come to a rest.

Dancing at Lantana's
Having such a ball.
This will be when we celebrate
The best night of them all.

Dressing up in caps and gowns,
The sun is shining bright.
We'll all receive diplomas,
And party away the night.

Now that our story is done,
We have nothing else to tell.
No more classes to go to;
No more hearing teachers yell.

Last day of school.
Looking backward with tears.
It has finally happened.
We've completed our senior year.

Eventually we will miss this
When we think of our old school.
We had so many great times together.
1995 was cool.

As our four years end
We go on our separate ways.
Only memories to hold on to
Of our good old high school days.

So ends another year at Whitman-Hanson Regional High School. With that ending comes the close to your Whitman-Hanson Yearbook. We hope that in your future travels you look back through the 1995 Retrospect with smiles and nostalgia. We also hope that now, as you walk out the doors of Whitman-Hanson for the last time ... you look forward to looking back.
